Think-Pair-Share

Standards Covered:

SWBAT summarize, in their own words, written texts

SWBAT discuss ideas, while respecting others, within a group setting

Task:

Continuing our work on discussion skills, we're going to take what we learned yesterday and really focus on the skill of waiting our turn to speak/not interrupting others.

Your job is as follows:

- Pick a partner (different from yesterday)
- With your partner, you're going to summarize yesterday's section of The Odyssey. In your summary, include:
  - At least 2 main plot points
  - Recurring themes or symbols
- Person A shares first; then, person B is going to paraphrase what Person A said.
- Then, the roles will reverse and Person B will share his/her summary and Person A will paraphrase what was said

Expert Collaborators • Both partners shared a summary of yesterday's reading • Both partners spoke without interruptions • Both partners paraphrased what the other person said
Proficient Collaborators • Both partners shared a summary of yesterday's reading • There may have been one or two interruptions • Both partners attempted to paraphrase what the other person said
Beginning Collaborators • Only one partner shared a summary OR both partners were off topic • Both partners interrupted each other several times • Neither partner paraphrased what the other person said
