

Two-column Notes

Standards

Students will be able to...

1. Identify defining characteristics of classic and popular literature of a variety of complex genres. C
3. Explain the use of literary techniques in classic literature. C
5. Compare a variety of texts for purpose, structure, content, detail, and effect. C

Task

Our textbook features some helpful questions and notes in the margins to guide our reading. What additional notes would you include for the Prologue? In a two-column journal, specify the passages (first column) and notes (second column) you would add. You should include notes that would help students with literary analysis of the text as well as comparison to Beowulf.

Rubric

|                                     | 3                                        | 2                                                           | 1                                                       |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| Identification of literary terms    | At least 3 terms identified correctly    | 2 literary terms identified                                 | 1 literary term identified                              |
| Comparison to Beowulf        | At least 2 correct comparisons/contrasts | 1 correct comparison or contrast                            | 1 comparison or contrast that is not entirely correct   |
| Notes written in complete sentences |                                          | Most or all sentences are complete                          | More than 2 incomplete sentences                        |
| Passages cited correctly            |                                          | Passages quoted word for word followed by correct citations | Passages not word for word or missing correct citations |

Total /10